This apartment, only 15 minutes from Tower Bridge, has been completely redesigned by Studio Alexander Fehre. The intelligent use of the limited space was geared to the owner's living needs. An unusual kitchen solution has created more space in the living area and integrated much more functionality. The bathroom is now equipped with a spacious shower, adding a quite luxurious touch, and the narrowness of the room has been further enhanced. Strong color contrasts gave the apartment a high degree of individuality, while the sophisticated interior design guarantees the necessary functionality and thus offers all the amenities of a modern, urban living environment on just 45 square meters.
